the people are up in arms. Real estate experts assert the unsightly signs are constantly deteriorating the finest property valuations in the upper region of the town and that the evil is steadily growing. The offensiveness of the signs is terhaps most keenly felt in the neighborhood of Central Park, along the Riverside Drive and other show places. Court, decisions, which in some cases have upheld the "rights" of billposters, have made the offenders more brazen than ever. VARIOUS REMEDIES HAVE BEEN commission that a constitutional amendment be adopted covering broadly the whole question of aesthetics as a legitimate basis for regulation by statute or ordinance.

An investigation of the bill-board nuisance has revealed the fact that there are many hundreds of owners of unimproved property in the upper section of the city who pay very little taxes on their unsightly lots, retard development and at the same time development and at the same time receive surprisingly large rentals from bill-posting concerns. It is this class of citizens that the City Cham-berlain hopes to get after. Although the City Chamberlain has not made his plans public, it is known that there are several methods at his disposal for the elimination of the bill-posting signs. One suggestion is that there be a law enacted giving that there be a law enacted giving the resideats of a given locality power to vote on the question of whether or not they are satisfied with the signs. Another is to levy a tax high enough to drive the bill-posters out of business.

enough to drive the bill-posters out of business.

The crusade against outdoor advertising signs in England accomplished results years ago. If was the Society for the Prevention of Abuses in Public Advertising—called "Spapa" for short—that led the fight. There is now a well enforced law in England which empowers local authorities to frame by-laws "for regulating, restricting or preventing the exhibition of advertisements in such manner or by such means as to affect injuriously the amenities of a public park or pleasure promenade, or to disfigure the natural beauty of a landscape."

With such a law on the statute books of the State the Board of Aldermen, the Board of Estimate, or both, men, the Board of Estimate, or both, through the recommendation of a commission simila, to the Gaynor commission, could wipe every objec-tionable bill-board sign of the Manhattan landscape.

It is likely that Mayor Mitchel will ask the Legislature to give the city authorizes the right to prohibit bill-boards in neighborhoods from which justifiable complaints have come.
